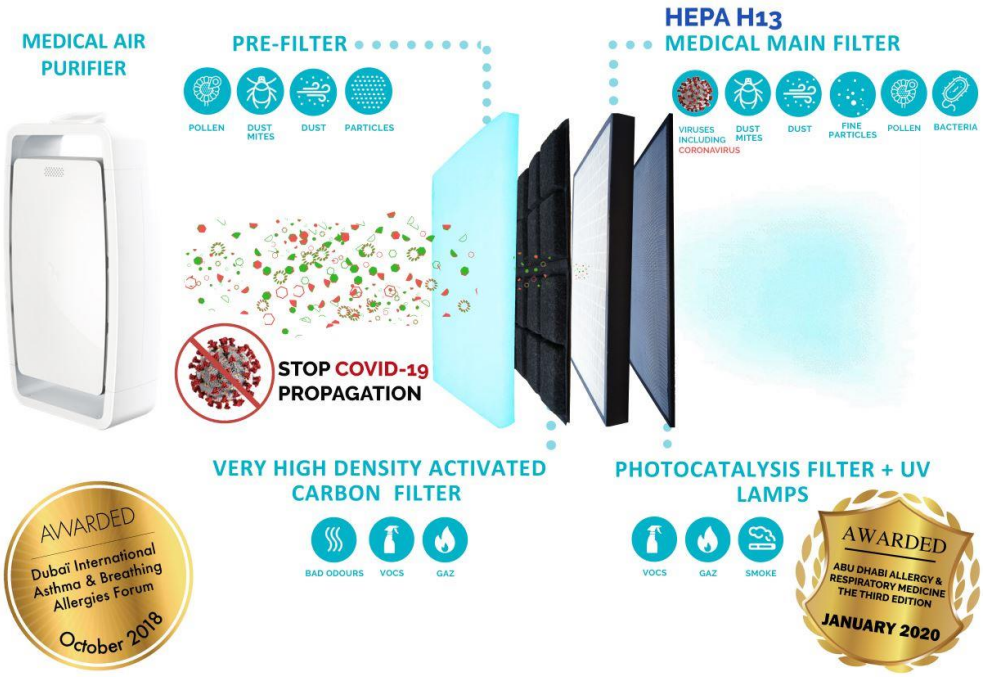
outstanding contribution of green building and sustainability practitioners in the private and public sectors in the region.

Eolis Air Manager which is a joint R&D effort in partnership with AIRBUS Group, is by far, the best professional air purifier to be developed in the world. This innovative technology and unique combination of high-quality filters eliminate all types of air pollutants including viruses (Covid-19), bacteria, mould, dust mites, particulate matter as well as VOCs.

In addition to this revolutionary filtration system, Eolis Air manager is equipped with a unique feature called (Active Oxygen (activated in 'S' Model only). It is an exclusive function that effectively sanitizes the ambient air of the room and ensures total disinfection in just one hour.



Eolis Air Manager is also the first and only air purifier verified for its performance and harmlessness under the Environmental Technology Verification (ETV) program, created by the European Commission.

It has been listed as a proven solution in the management of the Covid-19 pandemic and patient care by the French Healthcare Association. The product's unique medical-grade filtration system has met the complex health and sanitary requirements in medical environments.

Eolis Air Manager is the preferred choice of professionals in the healthcare, hospitality, education, public and private sectors looking for an effective and green solution in indoor air quality treatment.
